

QUANTUM PLUS LEAPS AHEAD OF THE COMPETITION

Quantum Plus walked away with the prestigious “Outsourcing Advisor of the Year” title at the NOA Awards for Best Practice in Outsourcing.

The NOA awards, now in their second year, are held to recognise and reward innovation and achievement by suppliers, users and integrated teams within the outsourcing industry in the UK and across Europe.

Quantum Plus’ entry in the “Outsourcing Advisor of the Year” category answered the judges call for admissions to capture innovation, company personality and contribution to the outsourcing industry. In summing up Quantum Plus’ entry Martyn Hart, chairman of the National Outsourcing Association commented: “Quantum Plus presented a number of outsourcing projects it had worked on, all delivering tangible results. The projects involved what are notoriously the most complex aspects of outsourcing, to include: contract cancellation and extrication; tendering and awarding of new integrated contracts; managing multi-location contracts. Results included a 60% cost reduction on day rates and completing almost 20% ahead of schedule.”

Upon receiving the award Quantum Plus’ managing director, John Clemmow, said “We’re delighted at winning this award, it recognises our team’s depth of experience, flair and determination to do the right thing for our customers.”

The glittering black-tie event was held on Thursday 22nd September at the Radisson SAS Portman Square in London and nearly 500 leading players from the world of outsourcing were in attendance to see Quantum Plus lift their award which was presented to them by the BBC’s Breakfast News presenter, Declan Curry.

Part of the award winning Quantum Plus team, from L to R: Tony Adams, Nick Davies, Eleanor Winn, John Clemmow, David Grounds and Caroline Walton